DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-13 are currently pending in the instant application and are subject to a lack of unity restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. § 121 and § 372.

Claims 1-13 are drawn to more than one inventive concept (as defined by PCT Rule 13), and accordingly, a restriction is required according to the provision of PCT Rule 13.2.

PCT Rule 13.2 states that the international application shall relate to one invention only or to a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (requirement of unity of invention).

PCT Rule 13.2 states unity of invention referred to in Rule 13.1 shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features.

Annex B, Part 1 (b), provides that "special technical features" mean those technical features, which, as a whole, define a contribution over the prior art.

Annex B, Part 1 (e), provides combinations of different categories of claims and states:

"The method for determining unity of invention under Rule 13 shall be construed as permitting, in particular, the inclusion of any one of the following combinations of claims of different categories in the same international application:

(i) in addition to an independent claim for a given product, an independent claims for a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an independent claim for use of the said product, or

(ii) in addition to an independent claim for a given process, an independent claim for an apparatus or means specially designed for carrying out the said process, or

Art Unit: 1626

(iii) in addition to an independent claim for a given product, and independent claim for a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an independent claim for an apparatus or means specially designed for carrying out the said process,....”

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions that are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. Due to numerous and widely divergent variables in the substituents of Formula I, for example:  $R^{1-31}$ , A, B, D, G, E, Y, and M and the methods of use present, a precise listing of inventive groups cannot be made. The following groups are exemplary:

- Group I:     Claims 1-13, drawn to compounds and compositions of Formula I, wherein M = oxygen and t = 0, and methods for using said compounds.
- Group II:    Claims 1-13, drawn to compounds and compositions of Formula I, wherein M = oxygen and t = 1, and methods for using said compounds.
- Group III:   Claims 1-13, drawn to compounds and compositions of Formula I, wherein M = sulfur and t = 0, and methods for using said compounds.
- Group IV:    Claims 1-13, drawn to compounds and compositions of Formula I, wherein M = sulfur and t = 1, and methods for using said compounds.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted. Again, this is not an exhaustive list, as it would be impossible to produce such a list under the time constraints due to the large volume of subject matter instantly claimed. Therefore, applicant may choose to elect a single invention (a product and a method of use) by identifying another specific embodiment, i.e. a value for  $R^{1-31}$ , A, B, D, G, E, Y, and M not listed in the exemplary groups of the invention and Examiner will endeavor to group the same. The applicant may also choose to elect a single disclosed species or a single method of use of a single species and the Examiner will endeavor to create a group comprising the elected species.

Art Unit: 1626

The claims herein lack unity of invention under PCT Rules 13.1 and 13.2 because, pursuant to 37 C.F.R. 1.475(a) Group I - Group IV lack unity of invention since, under 37 CFR 1.475:

Where a group of inventions is claimed in an application, the requirement of unity of invention shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical feature among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features...those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.

The structural moiety common to Group I – Group IV is lacking as pointed out in the structural diagram below. The variable M may represent an oxygen or sulfur, from which patentably distinct structural cores exist:

the claims lack unity of invention and should be limited to a product and a method of use.

Furthermore, with respect to Group I – Group IV, even if unity of invention under 37 CFR 1.475(a) is not lacking, under 37 CFR 1.475(b) a national stage application containing claims to different categories of invention will be considered to have unity of invention if the claims are drawn only to one of the following combinations:

- (1) A product and a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product; or
- (2) A product and process of use of said product; or
- (3) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and a use of the said product; or
- (4) A process and an apparatus or means specially designed for carrying out the said process; or
- (5) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an apparatus or means specially designed for carrying out the said process.

Moreover, according to 37 CFR 1.475(c),

If an application contains claims to more or less than one of the combinations of categories of invention set forth in paragraph (b), unity of invention might not be present.

In the instant case the claims are drawn to more than a product and a method of use, and according to 37 CFR 1.475(e),

The determination whether a group of inventions is so linked as to form a single general inventive concept shall be made without regard to whether the inventions are claimed in separate claims or as alternatives within a single claim.

As a result, since M may represent oxygen or sulfur, the products defined by such Groups I-IV are distinct inventions and require different searches and classifications. Therefore, the claims lack unity of invention and applicant is required to elect a single invention.
